Programme overview

Design a simple collection game, implement browser-based controls and state transitions, test scoring and restart, improve accessibility, and document an original portfolio prototype. Learners need a computer with a modern browser and text editor. Basic computer skills are sufficient; JavaScript examples are explained within the course. The public Coin Quest sample is free; the fee purchases the structured LMS readings, exercises and self-assessment for this course only. 18 written LMS lessons, guided browser project, answered self-checks and self-assessed capstone No recorded lectures, live classes, individual human marking, Unity/Unreal engine training, commercial multiplayer backend, university credit, professional certification or employment guarantee. The other proposed gaming and animation programmes are not included.
