Programme overview

Produce a factual incident-learning report with testable corrective actions. 9 written workshops with worked cases, worksheets, answered self-checks and a final assignment. Online theory only; no recognised safety qualification or practical certification. Independent online knowledge and planning course. No statutory safety-officer qualification, diploma, NEBOSH/IOSH/OSHA accreditation, ISO certification, operator licence or practical competence assessment. No live classes, human marking, practical drills or full-course videos. Hazardous work requires task-specific competent training and employer authorisation. The comprehensive Safety Management course includes all 24 topic workshops used by the focused courses. Focused courses reuse the listed workshops and add their own final case assignment. Compare the reading index; buying both may duplicate material.

Who this is for

1. For adults aged 18+ seeking introductory safety-management knowledge; basic English reading is needed.
2. All exercises are fictional desktop tasks. Do not perform hazardous work, site entry, equipment testing or emergency drills from these notes.
