Learning format

A self-paced English written course for the UPSC Civil Services Law optional: 29 original teaching chapters spanning both papers, worked legal problems, explained chapter practice and two original paper-level assessments with model directions and rubrics for all 56 subparts. It maps all 81 main entries in the official 2026 syllabus and explicitly records remaining depth gaps; it distinguishes historical syllabus terminology from verified current-law changes. Estimated study time includes primary-source reading, written exercises and self-review, not video hours. Full examination preparation remains partial. Project prerequisites: Comfortable English reading and willingness to consult primary legal texts. Prior legal study helps but is not a claimed eligibility requirement.. Not included: This is written theory and self-assessed answer-writing support; no recorded/live lectures, faculty grading, classroom attendance or personalised legal representation is included.; The 81 main official syllabus entries have teaching placements, but the documented advanced doctrinal, case-law and specialised statutory gaps mean full UPSC Law optional preparation is not certified complete.; Two original paper attempts are included; an extensive timed test series, official-paper solutions and examiner-calibrated performance assessment are not included.; Law is checked against stated primary sources as at 28 October 2026; continuous future legislative, regulatory or case-law updates are not promised.; The course confers no LL.B., professional licence, Bar Council recognition, UPSC affiliation, selection guarantee or right to practise law.; Advanced gaps include judicial-appointment/tribunal case law,
